Adolescent Fire
Safety Education

Safety is designed as a tool to increase awareness of fire safety. Youth with fire setting offenses learn to eliminate and/or redirect their fire setting impulses. With the use of Restorative Justice Principles, youth address the importance of taking responsibility and being accountable for their choices. Through completion of a final project, youth are able to examine influences and thinking errors involved with their offense and set goals which encourage a path of positive behavior.

Topic Areas:

- Communication
- Anger
- Boredom
- Thinking Errors
- Empathy
- Victim Awareness
- Fire and the Media
- Problem Solving
- Peer Pressure
- Assertiveness
- Personal Power
- Feelings

Format:

Opening and Introduction

Youth will be welcomed back to group, have their homework checked in, and receive a brief overview of what to expect for group each day.

Instruction

Each week will cover a different topic around fire safety and risk taking behavior. Through instruction and group discussion youth will explore each topic to build understanding.

Activity

Youth will then complete an in group activity which ranges from further group discussion, worksheets, or problem solving activities. These activities will usually include a group portion as well as an individual portion.

Homework Assignment/Close

To reinforce the skills learned in each group, youth will be assigned homework that they will need to complete before returning to the next session. This homework often involves parent participation and a signature to assure that parents have seen the work that youth are completing.

Risk factors increase the likeliness a youth will participate in risky or illegal behavior while specific protective factors work as a powerful force that overcome these risk factors at a 2 to 1 ratio. As a result of this knowledge, Safety works to address the following risk and protective factors:

- Enhances the ability to show empathy.
- Creates an environment where participants have an opportunity to accept responsibility for their behavior.
- Seeks to address harmful fire-setting behavior.
