Land Acknowledgement

There are many Indigenous communities that have a historical, cultural and spiritual connection to what is now Clackamas County. The Willamette Valley and surrounding areas - from the mountain range to the ocean – were honored by Indigenous groups for its diversity, beauty, and abundance. This is what drew people here for generations prior to colonization. We will never be able to name every tribe that visited or lived upon this land because these communities frequently traveled for trade and other reasons. The Indigenous people lived, traded and navigated along great rivers and tributaries presently named the Clackamas, Molalla, Pudding, Sandy, and Willamette. Many of the original inhabitants of this land died from disease, brought on by early European settlers and French fur trappers. Those that survived fatal diseases and other conflicts were forcibly removed and relocated by the United States Government because of the land's value. Today, descendants live on, carrying on traditions and cultures, honoring their ancestors.

We honor the Native American people of Clackamas County as a vibrant, foundational and integral part of our community here today. We respectfully acknowledge Wy'east, also known as Mount Hood, and Hyas Tyee Tumwata, also known as Willamette Falls, as sacred sites for many Native Americans. We thank those who have connection to this land and serve as stewards, working to ensure our ecosystem stays balanced and healthy.

Acknowledging the original people of the land is a simple, powerful practice that demonstrates respect by making Indigenous people's history and culture visible. It is also a small step along the path toward reconciliation and repair. Please join us in taking this opportunity to thank and honor the original caretakers of this land.

Project Overview Where we've been and where we're going

Project Area

History of the Corridor Community

- Before 1800, forests covered most of the watershed and streams supported large populations of salmon, steelhead, and other fish.
- Settled lands in the visioning area were largely farmland, often subsistence farming, through the 1940s, until roads open the land to new development and industry.

Cultural History

Prehistory

Before 18th century

Native American tribes, including the Clackamas, Multnomah, Wasco, Molalla, and Kalapuya inhabit the region now known as Clackamas County.

American Colonization

Early to mid 19th century The establishment of fur trading posts and settlements by Euro-American colonizers leads to increased interactions and trade with Native American tribes in the region.

Exploration & Early Contact 18th century

Initial contact with Native American tribes occurs during this period. European explorers, traders, and fur trappers from Spain, Great Britain, France, and the United States, explore the Pacific Northwest. Missionaries come to Oregon. Disease devastates the Pacific Northwest. New towns established.

Treaties & Land Cessions Mid to late 19th century

The U.S. government negotiates treaties with various tribes in the region, resulting in the cession of land and the forced removal of some tribes to reservations. These treaties significantly alter the tribal territories and way of life.

Black Exclusion Laws Mid to late 19th century

The racial makeup of Oregon has been largely influenced by a series of exclusion laws passed in the mid-1800s. Exclusion laws made it illegal for free Black people to settle in Oregon and were successful in discouraging Black people from moving to Oregon during the Great Migration.

Chinese Exclusion Period

Mid to late 19th century

The number of Chinese in Oregon grew dramatically after the mid-1860s and would continue to increase to around 10,000 in 1900. The period of 1882 to 1943 is known as the Exclusion Period. During this time, both the United States federal government and the Oregon state government passed discriminatory laws that led to violence against and decline of Oregon's Chinese population.

Native American Assimilation

Late 19th century The U.S. government enacts

policies aimed at assimilating Native Americans into mainstream American society, leading to the forced removal of Native American children to boarding schools and other efforts to suppress native languages and cultures.

Discrimination Against Black Settlers Late 19th century

Despite the racist laws excluding Black people from living in Oregon, many Black American settlers still came to Clackamas County. Black people often arrived in Oregon City, the terminus of the Oregon trail and the territorial capitol. Many settler later left due to the discrimination of Oregon's Black exclusion laws.

Forced Ejection of Chinese Settlers

Late 19th century

A broad wave of anti-Chinese sentiment following the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad. As a result of forced ejection, violence, and federally mandated exclusion, Oregon's Cantonese population declined from about 10,390 in 1900 to 2,102 in 1950.

Present Day 21st century

Native American Tribes, and Black and Chinese communities of the Clackamas County region continue to preserve and revitalize their languages, cultures, and traditions.

Results of the Termination Era 20th century

Native American tribes, and Black and Chinese communities in the Clackamas County region, like many others across the United States, experience challenges due to exclusion laws, cultural suppression, and economic difficulties.

Sunrise Corridor Community Visioning

Visioning Overview

This work will build meaningful partnerships with people who live, work and visit the area to develop an equitable, community-supported vision for the future of the Sunrise Corridor Community.

Visioning efforts will:

- Center community voices, cultural history, and identify community values.
- Analyze health impacts, economic opportunities, and accessible, safe infrastructure for the area within an equitable framework.
- Collaborate with partners at the City of Happy Valley, ODOT, and Metro to build momentum towards implementation of the vision.

Transportation Outcomes from Past Work

- The County and partner agencies recognize that previous studies didn't provide the right answer for the corridor and today's surrounding community.
- Future transportation outcomes need to learn from past work and collaborate with community members to:
  - Right-size infrastructure improvements
  - Focus on community needs
  - Provide equitable access

Project Area Overview: Getting to Know the Area

Data collection, maps, and more

The technical team is collecting data and mapping existing conditions.

Topic areas include:

- Jobs and economy
- Land use and resources
- Housing and Community
- Community Health
- Mobility and Safety

The following is a preview of this work.

There will be more shared at the next meeting.

Jobs and Economy

Industrial areas have increased employment for the last 10 years.

- 14,000 jobs in the study area
- Study area and regional unemployment only 2%
- There are fewer professional and office employers in the area yet there has been grown in that area also.

Community

Much of the project area is used for industrial lands and employment. There is a relatively small population living in the project area, though the population around the area is growing rapidly.

- Population growth higher surrounding study area (2011 to 2021)

   Study area: +40% population growth 5,400 to 7,600 people
   Happy Valley: +80% population growth 13,000 to 23,400
   County, region, state: ~12% population growth
- Race/ethnicity similar to county, region, and state
- Median household income up 53% over the last 10 years, however it is lower than surrounding communities.

Housing

Relatively low amount of housing in the study area.

The housing available is more affordable than surrounding areas.

- Several manufactured home communities
- Newer housing developments east side of study area (single family/ town homes)
- Unique housing
  - a transitional residential community for veterans (15 units)

Sunrise Corridor Community Visioning

Community Health

The area has a higher percentage of people who are "transportation disadvantaged," meaning they have less access to transportation (not evenly distributed across area).

This can prevent access to health care, employment, education, shopping, social activities and other quality of life needs.

Transportation disadvantaged communities:

- Lower income communities
- · Communities of color
- People without a car
- Seniors
- People with disabilities

Mobility and Safety
