Playing tag when your dog is lost is no game.

Thunder, fireworks, or an open gate or window are just some ways dogs can begin an adventure that becomes a stay at a local shelter.

With a current license, your dog has the best chance of being returned home.

You can buy or renew a Clackamas County dog license by mailing in this application, at the office of a participating veterinarian or online at www.clackamas.us/dogs.

Please return this application with a check made payable to Clackamas County Dog Services.

First visit www.clackamas.us/dogs to find the current license fees for altered and fertile dogs.
You can also order replacement tags.

Or, you can purchase or renew a Clackamas County dog license* by scanning the code below, visiting www.clackamas.us/dogs or with participating local veterinarians.

*A license is only valid when accompanied with proof of a current rabies vaccination. You must maintain a current rabies vaccination for the duration of the license term or the license will become invalid until you provide proof of a new rabies vaccination to Dog Services.

Why should I license my dog?

If your dog is brought to our shelter, their license tells us they have a home and provides the information we need to reunite you with your dog. The license also:

- Allows for a longer hold time at the shelter before we start looking for a new home.
- Allows us to provide better emergency care if your pet arrives at the shelter injured.
- Waives the first impound fee if your dog ends up at the shelter (daily boarding fee still applies). Impound fees would apply if your dog is brought to our shelter again within 12 months.
- Allows us to return your dog to your home as we are able.

Make sure your dog wears their license at all times. If the license is not on your dog, we can't use it to reunite you.

Also, it's the law.

What we do

Clackamas County Dog Services provides dog shelter, stray care, adoptions, and lost and found services. We reunite owners with lost dogs and match adoptable dogs with good homes.

We also assist the community with reports of dogs roaming uncontrolled outside of their owner's property, unrestrained aggressive or menacing dogs, livestock incidents involving dogs, barking complaints outside of city limits, dog neglect and dog bites.
